New Answers for Frustrated Students (and Their Parents)

Connecticut-based My Tutor and Me, LLC launches one-on-one tutoring services in Eastern Massachusetts, offering personalized academic solutions for students of all ages in all subjects...

September 15, 2009, Darien, CT...My Tutor and Me, LLC, (www.mytutorandme.com) a private one-on-one home tutoring service announced today that it is expanding its service area to include the Greater Boston area. Currently offering custom in-home tutoring, test preparation and homework services in Southwest Connecticut and Westchester County, NY, My Tutor and Me now also provides private educational services to Pre-K through graduate school students in areas of Suffolk, Worcester, Norfolk and Essex counties in Massachusetts with plans for more extensive coverage in these areas by mid-2010.

My Tutor and Me was founded in 2002 by Shannon Converse, Ed. M., and her husband, Fred Converse, to address the growing demand of parents looking for qualified, skilled tutors. They are opening in Eastern Massachusetts with an exclusive network of more than 30 tutors who represent expertise across all subjects, and they have plans to expand to more than 100 tutors in the area. In choosing where to expand, the Converses chose the Greater Boston area based on their ties to the community. "It's where my roots are, and we visit quite frequently. Many families have expressed that they wish a service such as My Tutor and Me was available in their area," said Fred, a native of Dover.

Shannon continued, "There are other tutoring services, but our student-tutor matching system is what sets us apart – and has given our students success. We thoroughly vet and personally interview only highly-trained professional, state-certified educators or degreed professionals who are experts in their fields. We are also unique in that we offer free intake for the students, and based on that in-depth evaluation, we are able to match tutors with the right personality fit and area of expertise to the unique style of learning the students need to achieve the best results. My Tutor and Me can provide multiple teachers to a family with children of various ages, in the privacy and convenience of their home – all with one call."

The founders believe that a strong, caring rapport between tutor and student is essential because the tutor's support instills confidence and motivation. My Tutor and Me's in-home, one-on-one approach has proven successful as clients have seen their children's grades and test scores improve as they learn productive study habits, master new challenges and strengthen their self-confidence.

My Tutor and Me's tutors are highly skilled in instructing students from Pre-K to graduate school adults, in courses such as Reading, Writing Composition, English, the Sciences, Mathematics, History/Social Studies, Advanced Placement, World Languages, and English as a Second Language. Some of their tutors also offer training in non-academic areas such as Music and French in addition to their core academic subjects. Special Education tutors who are certified to work with special needs students offer another area of expertise. Study & Organizational Skills, Research & Note taking Skills as well as test preparation is available for SATs, PSATs, ISEE/SSAT, AP Exams, ACTs and state-wide tests such as the MCAs.

According to Mrs. Converse, "We feel strongly that providing an individualized learning experience that is customized to a student's own learning style – in a controlled environment within the student's home – provides the best results for success." They offer a no-risk, satisfaction-guaranteed first session and will help your child reach his or her full potential.

About the founders:

Shannon Converse is a specialist in the education of students with multiple and severe disabilities and currently teaches for the Darien Public Schools in the Therapeutic Learning Center (TLC) at Ox Ridge Elementary. She also taught for several years at the Westchester School for Special Children in New York. She has created original and innovative curricula for children with Cerebral Palsy, Down Syndrome, Autism Spectrum Disorders, and general developmental delays. Prior to teaching in Darien, Shannon taught in the Ridgefield, CT Public Schools where she headed her school's Learning Center and implemented a modified reading and writing curriculum to students who have language-based learning disabilities. Shannon holds Masters and post-Masters degrees in Special Education from Bank Street College of Education in New York City plus a B.S. in Elementary Education from the State University of New York at Oswego. She is state certified in both New York and Connecticut in Elementary and Special Education. Shannon is a member of the Council for Exceptional Children.

Fred Converse served Viacom's Showtime division in New York City for nearly 20 years. He later capitalized on an opportunity to work from his home in Connecticut as an executive for an online cable industry information service. When the choice came to accept a new job offer back in the city or switch gears to something entirely new, he chose to share valuable time with his young twin sons as they started kindergarten. He had always wanted to run his own business, and decided to pursue his dream. With his own interest in his children's education and Shannon's background in education, together they launched My Tutor and Me. He supplies his business and marketing expertise to the running of the company.

About the Company: My Tutor and Me offers the highest quality, individualized in-home tutoring to supplement and support classroom learning. Its mission is to provide positive learning experiences, while improving the critical skills necessary for academic success. The company is a member of the Connecticut Association for Adults and Children with Learning Disabilities, the Education Industry Association and the Better Business Bureau of Connecticut.
